

Gunmen Hold Up Train, Get $50,000 Cash and Flee

AMESBURY, MASS., July 29 (By U. P.).—Three men held up the baggage master on a train of the Amesbury branch of the Boston & Maine Railroad today and escaped with $50,000, mostly in cash, and two sacks of mail.

The three men entered the train as passengers at Salisbury. As the train neared a junction on the main road between Amesbury and Salisbury they went into the baggage car.

Accomplices Stop Train

The baggage master was forced into a corner and while one of the bandits held him at the point of his gun, the other two ransacked the car for the mail sacks. No shots were fired.

Reports from Amesbury are that two accomplices in an automobile bus had halted the engine, enabling the bandits to jump from the car and make their escape.

Streets Inundated Camp Flooded in Savannah Storm

SAVANNAH, GA., July 29 (By U. P.).—The tropical storm, traveling up the coast, struck Savannah this morning, after heavy rains and high tides last night had done considerable damage to the city.

Record-breaking tides inundated Tybee Island, near here. National Guard troops, forced to abandon their summer camp on the island, were held ready for emergency service. Savannah streets were partially under water.

MIAMI, FLA. (via cable to Havana) July 29 (By U. P.).—Meager reports reaching here from Nassau, Bahama Islands, transmitted by wigwag signals to ships five miles at sea and thence by radio, said all three large hotels in Nassau had been damaged by a hurricane.

RADIO PHOTO WIZARDS HAVE TELEVISION DEVICE

PARIS, July 29 (By U. P.).—

Prof. Bélin, inventor of wireless transmission of photographs, and Prof. Holweck, head of the Radium Institute, have demonstrated at Bélin's laboratory a "television" device, which they predict will make wireless transmission of moving images possible at an early date.
